So just like God asked Moses, "What is in your hand?"

With my last N3,800, while others were celebrating Happy New Year, I launched out and started #IgbotiSoupMama. I lost my husband in January 2013. It was a big blow for me and the kids. We didn't see it coming. We were unprepared. I was devastated, the children were terrified!!! I was initially confused and angry. I had three kids and many bills to take care of. My husband was a major income earner where I played a supporting role. Then the table turned and I became the sole earner. In December 2014, I prayed to God for an idea of what to do for an additional source of income. And on 2nd January 2015, the idea of #IgbotiSoupMama hit me like thunderbolt. I have always loved cooking and very skillful at it. So just like God asked Moses, "What is in your hand?" For me, it was cooking. With my last N3800, while others were celebrating Happy New Year, I launched out and started Z on 2nd January 2015. Please read my lips, I said I started my business with just N3800 in cash using my home kitchen. 4 years and many alerts after, I am here so, so, so proud that I took that step. #IgbotiSoupMama has grown to become a well known brand. We have countless orders coming from all across Nigeria. Our soups have also been ordered from far away UK, Switzerland, Australia, and United States. I am not just paying some major bills from the profits, I am able to support some indigents with school fees, food etc from profits accrued. I serve the most delicious, finest meals in my home and in the homes of hundreds of others. I have appeared on many media platforms within and outside Nigeria. I am a proud entrepreneur in the Nigerian food retail business. #IgbotiSoupMama partners with the NGO I founded to provide jobs for widows and their children through our services. Let me stop here for now.

You see, I think when you have a skill that you put to work, you empower yourself to create the right experience for yourself and your loved ones. Cooking is one skill that can uplift your home and even put good money in your pocket. Lately, I have received so many requests from people who want me to teach them my recipes. So here's the big news!!!! I am ready to hold the hands of just 15 women/girls and teach them how to prepare some Igboti delicacies that will make people stay glued. We did it before and succeeded and I am happy to launch out again!! You pass through me and your meals change radically!, It is not juju; I sabi the thing. LOL. So hurray!!!

The Igboti Online Soup Class is back!!! Have you struggled to cook certain Igboti soups or meals and you want to learn from the best? This is it. For 2 days, I will be hosting 4 classes of 4 recipes to 15 women in a closed group who want to take their cooking to the next level. These classes are exclusively online on a closed Facebook Group, so you get to take part from anywhere on the planet. I will be appearing LIVE on Facebook and take you right into 'my kitchen' and revealing to you my top secrets for cooking. LOL!

But this class is not FREE oooh. With just N10,000/$40 you get to take part in the entire 4 classes. Yeah, Yeah, I know the amount is too small - I mean, that's N2500 /$10 per class sef - less than what I started #SoupMama with LOL. Okay, where are 15 women/girls who would grab this? Pay N10,000/$40 into: Igboti Soup Mama Kitchen 0094734433 Diamond Bank PLC. Or use the Zelle App if you're overseas. Zelle information is 6462512995. After payment, send your name to WhatsApp no 08142436295 or send me a message on Facebook or Instagram and you will be added to the Class. Classes will hold online 2019 in our Closed whatsapp Group. Don't miss out.

ATTORNEY, PUBLIC SPEAKER, WRITER, AUTHOR, MODEL AND WORLD RENOWNED SOUP CHEF!

Slices of Wisdom. Episode 1

When I was young, in the new days of indomie craze. I was still in primary school. Every kid was talking about it, they brought it to school. Then macaroni and spaghetti came around and the focus changed. I and my sister were already tired of the noodles eating. We wanted something new. We wanted spaghetti and macaroni. We told our Father, he brought home a carton of macaroni the next time. Mum wasn't available to prepare it. 10 year old I decided to do it. I felt since I had already learnt to make noodles, this one wouldn't be different. I opened it; there was no spices sachet in it like the noodles. I thought that the spices might have hidden in the macaroni holes. So I prepared it like that, no salt, no seasoning. Poured it into the flask and we went off to school. Don't ask if we ate it. We poured it away. It was really bland and tasteless.

Let's pick out some lessons from the story above.

The problem there was that I lacked experience; I had never made macaroni before. The passion and eagerness to cook it didn't suffice for my lack of experience. Here's the thing.

No matter how passionate you are about the things you want to do. Spend some time to get experience about it. Let's say, you want to be a hair dresser, you really love to make hair and your passion is to make people beautiful. You put up a sign board advertising your services, after a couple of customers, no one comes again.

What happened? You may ask.

Your customers were not satisfied. You lacked the experience to give them what they want.

So imagine, you spent two years learning at a saloon. You will have passion and experience which can guarantee your success.

Here's the truth, for every new and different thing you want to do or a venture you want to undertake, you need to have the required capacity to have and sustain it. This capacity can be gotten by experience. Its experience that makes you an expert.

Let me show you a few life and success hacks.

1. Ask questions: there is a proverb in Igbo language which says, "onye ajuju anaghi efu uzo", he who asks questions doesn't miss his way. If I had asked, how can I do this? I would have saved me and my sister the stress and hunger we had to experience. There were people around who knew how to prepare macaroni, but I didn't ask. There is a lot of knowledge to be acquired if only you'd learn to ask.

You can't figure out life on your own. Ask questions? How did you do this? How did you build your business? What are the mistakes you made? Asking someone this kind of question will encourage them to pour out their wealth of knowledge to you. Don't hold it back. Ask questions. Even if you know, you may get a different perspective which may be better than the one you knew.

2. Listen and learn from others: someone has been where you are and have travelled the road you want to travel. Instead of setting out, making mistakes and learning from them. You can ask those people who you know have passed through same things. Our neighbor always prepared macaroni, if I had asked her instead of relying on my own knowledge. I won't have wasted the food.

I didn't know it all, I learnt but that was after I had already wasted some of it.

Don't be like me. Ask questions, listen and learn. Learn from the mistakes of others, what they did and what they avoided. You can't go wrong if you do this.

3. Act: this is the most important of it all. Knowledge acquired needs to be acted on or it will be of no use. Practice on what you learn, it will make you perfect. Don't wait to know it all before you start. Just like the hair dresser example I gave, she won't have to know all styles at once. She can start using the ones she knowing and act on the knowledge she has gathered. Then gradually, she learns more. So can you, want to start a business, begin with the little knowledge you have already. Learn more as you go on every day. Success has a shortcut. Use it.

CHIZISPACE COLUMN!

How to discover our Kid's Talents & Interests?

As we give our children plenty of free time to be themselves, to be children we will start to see patterns of activity forming, especially if we don't put expectations on this time. It is as they play that they will gravitate towards what they are interested in. As your kids play watch closely, and ask yourself these questions:

What is it that the child gravitates towards?

What do they choose to do with their free time?

Chizitere Anachristina Okoye |||

What do they get excited about?

What do they want to talk about?

Our children need time to recreate. I believe there is a connection between having recreational time and being creative. Parenting today is so much about outcomes – but we cannot rush the development of our child – not their physical growth and not the growth of their interests. Sit back and watch, and be prepared to invest when you see a spark of interest. (Note: I am talking about children here – inspiring older kids/teens who are already bored and not showing interest in anything is a different story). Give them opportunity – 5 ways

THE VOICE OF DEPRESSION

End it now, it says
Grab the pill,
the gun

Do it anyhow, it pays
Relax, chill, it'd be fun

One bullet, and it's over
Oh yes, this miserable life
No more to suffer a hangover
Just one thrust, with that knife

Why stay back to grope
Helplessly in Worry's cave
Just reach out for that rope
Hang your body, be that brave

All frustration comes to an end
Vanishing like mists, your misery
No more hurt from family or friend
Draw the curtain and let it be history

Thus echoes in the head of its victim
That voice that so defy suppression
Repeatedly chanting its line, verbatim
The husky murky voice of Depression

Culture/Heritage

The longest-serving monarch in entire Nigeria is Igwe Kenneth Onyeneke Orizu III. Here are some other facts that you should know about the Igwe of Nnewi kingdom and the 20th Obi of Otolo.

Igwe Orizu III was born in 1925 to the father Igwe Josiah Orizu II from the Nnofo Royal lineage. He started his education in Calabar, in the Hope Waddell College, and finished it in 1942 in Onisha, at the New Bethel College. His reign started on June 2nd, 1963 when the official coronation was held. During his long-serving at the position of the traditional supreme ruler, he managed to achieve many positive things and bring prosperity to the people. Igwe Orizu III abolished the Osu caste system and pronounced everyone in the Nnewi province free born. The King didn't approve waste of resources on traditional funeral and marriage ceremonies, which also contributed to cultural transformation. He managed to reconcile the differences and unite the Igbos so that they could achieve progress and development. That is what created the climate needed for prosperity, and it is one of the reasons why Nnewi became known as the industrial center of Nigeria. We have also seen fantastic development in the area of health and education during the Igwe's reign. The University Teaching Hospital in Nnewi is known as one of the most reputable ones in the region. Nnewi High School, Maria Regina Girls School, and Okongwu Memorial Grammar School are only some of the educational facilities built recently. The Igwe played a crucial role in forming the Nnamdi Azikiwe University in Nnewi and donated a considerable portion of the land for the purpose of education. Igwe Orizu III is known to have a huge heart and ears who know how to listen. His leadership qualities and charm have taken the Nnewi kingdom to the path of progress and development. Igwe's mind is open to new ideas, including the modern ones, as long as they are protective and respectful of the spiritual, moral, and social values, of the people. The King is a real symbol of the Strength and Unity of his people.

Brief Bio Of Amarachi Attamah

Amarachi C. Attamah (Nwadioramma), is a performing poet, a broadcaster, an author and an active promoter of African and Igbo culture. She has four literary titles; Tomorrow's Twist (2007), My Broad Daydream (2011), Making a Difference (2014), and 'Akụkọ Ifo Nnemochie Kporo m' (2014). It is a short story anthology she wrote in Igbo Language. She is the founder of QJA Cultural Development Initiative; organizers of QJA Cultural Festival and also the Executive Director of Nwadioramma Concept; the umbrella housing her creative business concepts. Amarachi made it to the selection of Festival Managers for Festival Management Training by British Council from 2017 to 2018. She was also trained by the European Festival Association for the Atelier for Festival Managers at Johannesburg South Africa. Again through her advocacy for language, she attended the West African language conference to present her very first academic paper, resenting the voice for Igbo language. She has spoken on many platforms in relations to her work and language advocacy. Some of such platforms are TEDx, British Council Creative Hustle, countless schools and so on. Amarachi has received awards for her tireless works in Igbo language, as well as awards for her active cultural promotion and service to humanity. She is the current Vice Chairperson of Association of Nigerian Authors, Enugu State. Amarachi believes in awakening the consciousness of parents and children on the need to speak their indigenous language and the need to resurrect our dead good values and cultures. She loves to motivate with her story and has one outstanding trade mark... her smiles.
